

People who should consult doctor whether yellow fever vaccination is allowed or not

---

Following people should consult doctor whether yellow fever vaccination is allowed or not.

Consult Shizuoka Airport Detached Office of Nagoya Quarantine Station for more details.

People who should consult doctor whether yellow fever vaccination is allowed or not

- Allergic to hen's eggs and/or chicken
- Allergic to pork
- Allergic to gelatin or jelly
- Breast-feeding women
  - You can get vaccinated if you stop breast-feeding just after vaccination, or if you and your breast-fed baby of or older than 9 months get vaccinated simultaneously.
- Patients who are immunocompromised (immunodeficient, have a weakened immune system) because of reasons such as
  - diseases that weakens immune system (e.g., HIV, AIDS)
  - immunosuppressant medication
  - steroid (corticosteroid, adrenocortical hormone)
  - medication for collagen disease
(e.g., rheumatoid arthritis, systemic lupus erythematosus, Sjögren's syndrome)
  - anti-cancer agent
  - radiation therapy
- Patients with multiple sclerosis
  - It is known that multiple sclerosis can become worse temporarily after yellow fever vaccination.
- Any other cases that doctor considers the vaccination is inappropriate